

I Have Fallen In Love Again

Tekst og musik: Jette Torp

There's a little bird deep in my chest
It's been sleeping for so long
It seems it hasn't found a reason yet
To wake up and sing its song

But on a rainy day out of the grey
With no expectations at all
There you were - melting my heart away
And you asked me, if I'd call?

You can bet this time I will
Nothing's better
I thought I'd lost that thrill
But I have fallen in love again

It's like a withered flower growing up
It's like a burnt out fire you lit
I wanna be your spoon - your coffee cup
Anything that knows your lips

I might have overlooked a million charms
Throughout my life
But when I smoothly fall into your arms
And you ask me, if I'll stay the night?

You can bet this time I will
Nothing's better
I thought I'd lost that thrill
But I have fallen in love again

There's a little bird deep in my chest
And you woke it from its dream
I know this time I'll do my very best
To make it stay awake

You can bet this time

But I have fallen in love again
Yes I have fallen in love again - oh yeah
Fallen in love again
